2015 Network Conference

The Politics of Memory: Victimization, Violence and Contested Narratives of the Past
December 3-5, 2015

Columbia University, International Affairs Building (IAB), 420 West 118th Street, New York City

Our 2015 conference aims to explore issues relating to memory, victimhood and violence. Possible themes include the changing nature and identity of victims and the theme of contested victimization, with a particular interest in topics that explore the anniversaries of historical violence and the way such events are remembered. For a full schedule, click here. For questions you may have, please refer to our FAQs page. To attend the conference, please register here. Registration does not guarantee you a seat.
