Call for Working Paper Series Co-Editor

The Historical Dialogues, Justice and Memory Network is looking for a Co-Editor for its Working Paper Series (WPS). Since 2014, the WPS has contributed to the Network's goal of promoting interdisciplinary and transnational research on issues relating to the memorialization and historicization of conflicts and historic wrongs, historical and transitional justice, sustainable peace and participatory democracy, and reconciliation and historical dialogue. The WPS aims to facilitate the exchange of knowledge across the divides of academic institutions, disciplines and fields, of national and local contexts, and of theory and practice, with an emphasis on work by emerging scholars and practitioners.

In this role, you will collaborate with the current editor (Tim Wyman-McCarthy) to solicit, edit, and publish (on a rolling basis) exciting work relevant to the Network. We are interested in candidates with ideas on how to move the WPS in new directions and increase its activity. This voluntary role requires between 5-10 hours a month to work on the project and it is unpaid.

If you are interested in this opportunity, please send a brief cover letter and CV in an e-mail to ahda@columbia.edu and limwm@berkeley.edu (to the attention of Mr. Tim Wyman-McCarthy) with the subject "Working Paper Editor". For inquiries about the role, please email limwm@berkeley.edu.

MORE ON SCHOLARSHIP

We are delighted to share the latest contribution to our working paper series, Angela Bermudez's essay, "The Normalization of Political Violence in History Textbooks: Ten Narrative Keys". Angela Bermudez is a researcher at the Center for Applied Ethics in the University of Deusto (Bilbao, Spain).

Read Alexandra Lebedeva's review of The Social Life of Memory. Violence, Trauma, and Testimony in Lebanon and Morocco (Norman Saadi Nikro and Sonja Hegasy, eds.). This volume bridges the theoretical concepts and practice, where individual experiences from real people give a face and voice to the abstract notions of memory and history, time and place.
